As the Farm Safety 4 Just Kids Education Director, I'm writing in support of the proposed NIOSH Childhood Agricultural Prevention Initiative. I am currently a member of the Childhood Agricultural Safety Network (CASN) along with Marilyn Adams, FS4JK Founder. Our organization has directly benefited from involvement with this group. Through funding from CASN, we have added to our educational resources including a Spanish comic book about pesticide safety that was produced and distributed. In addition, a demonstration resource and leader's guide was developed for the Anabaptist audience. The collaborative efforts of many organizations working together is much more powerful than one organization working on its own. The CASN accomplishes this through their in-person meetings and teleconferences. Please continue funding the NIOSH Childhood Agricultural Prevention Initiative.
